Kingsbury Texas

News & Information Newsletter

Dear Kingsbury,

Here's the latest on what's going on in Kingsbury!

St. Patrick's Day

Today, Sunday, March 17th, is St. Patrick's Day!

Saint Patrick, who lived during the fifth century, is the patron saint and national apostle of Ireland. Born in Roman Britain, he was kidnapped and brought to Ireland as a slave at the age of 16. He later escaped, but returned to Ireland and was credited with bringing Christianity to its people.

In the centuries following Patrick's death (believed to have been on March 17, 461), the mythology surrounding his life became ever more ingrained in the Irish culture: Perhaps the most well known legend is that he explained the Holy Trinity (Father, Son and Holy Spirit) using the three leaves of a native Irish clover, the shamrock.

Since around the ninth or 10th century, people in Ireland have been observing the Roman Catholic feast day of St. Patrick on March 17. Interestingly, however, the first parade held to honor St. Patrick's Day took place not in Ireland but in the United States. On March 17, 1762, Irish soldiers serving in the English military marched through New York City. Along with their music, the parade helped the soldiers reconnect with their Irish roots, as well as with fellow Irishmen serving in the English army.

There's A Day For Everything

First Day Of Spring

Tuesday, March 19th, is the Vernal Equinox which marks the first day of Spring.

Astronomically speaking, the equinox falls on March 19 or 20 every year, marking spring's beginning in the Northern Hemisphere (whereas it announces fall's arrival in the Southern Hemisphere). The equinox happens at the same moment worldwide, even if our clock times reflect a different time zone.

At the Vernal Equinox, the Sun crosses the celestial equator on its way north along the ecliptic. All over the world, days and nights are approximately equal. The name equinox comes from Latin words which mean "equal night"— aequus (equal) and nox (night). Enjoy the increasing sunlight hours, with earlier dawns and later sunsets.

Equinoxes are the only two times a year that Sun only rises due east and sets due west for all of us on Earth!

While the Sun passes overhead, the tilt of the Earth is zero relative to the Sun, which means that Earth's axis neither points toward nor away from the Sun. (Note, however, that the Earth never orbits upright, but is always tilted on its axis by about 23.5 degrees.)

After the Spring equinox, the Norther Hemisphere tilts toward the Sun, which is why we start to get longer, sunnier days

SIGNS OF THE EQUINOX IN NATURE

The vernal equinox signals the beginning of nature's renewal in the Northern Hemisphere.

Worms begin to emerge from the earth. Even the March Moon is called "The Full Worm Moon" for this reason.

Notice the arc of the Sun across the sky as it shifts toward the north. Birds are migrating northward, along with the path of the Sun.

The increasing sunlight triggers bird song.

Trees, shrubs and flowers are sensitive to temperature and daylength, too. Since ancient days, people have used them as indicators of when the weather is right for planting. For example: Blooming crocus are your cue to plant radishes, parsnips and spinach.

Of course, the longer days bring warmer weather. Both we and the animals around us strip off our clothes and heavy coats.

March is time to start gardens and sow seeds in many regions.

EQUINOX FOLKLORE

According to folklore, you can stand a raw egg on its end on the equinox.

In earlier times, the vernal equinox was considered the beginning of the new year. It has always been an important day to those who work the land because it signifies the beginning of the season of regeneration and growth.

There are many ancient sites that mark the equinoxes (and solstices). One of the most famous ancient Spring equinox celebrations was at Chichen Itza in Mexico. The Mayans built a huge pyramid around the year A.D. 1000. The play of the Sun's light on it signals the beginning of the seasons. On the spring equinox, it looks like a huge snake is slithering down the steps. Mayans called this day "the return of the Sun serpent."

SPRING VERSE

"One swallow does not make a spring."

"Bluebirds are a sign of spring; warm weather and gentle south breezes they bring."

"In spring, no one thinks of the snow that fell last year."

"Don't say that spring has come until you can put your foot on nine daisies."

"Spring-time sweet!
The whole Earth smiles, thy coming to greet."

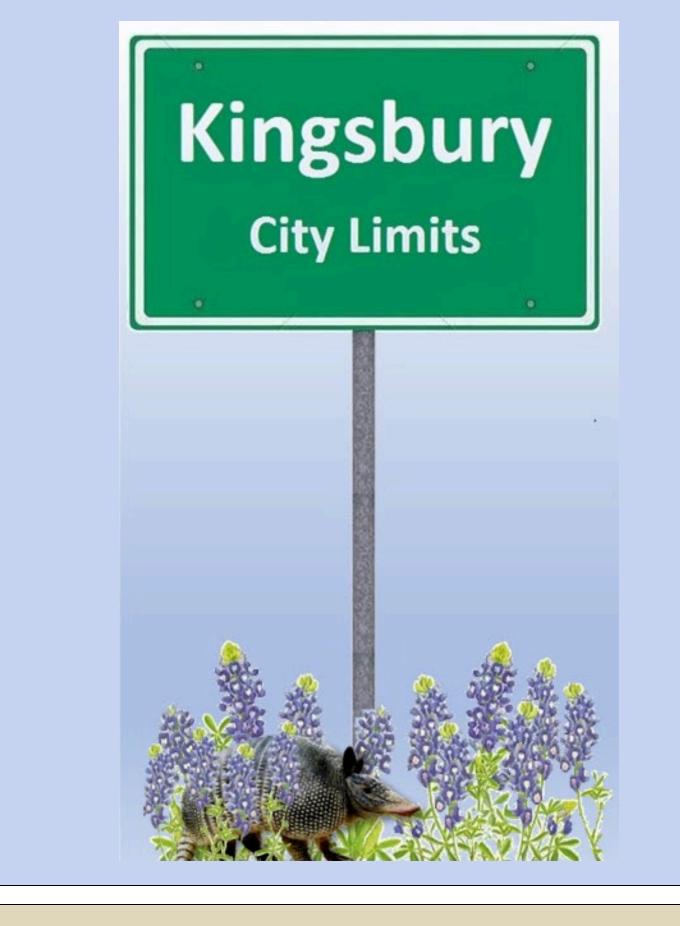

Kingsbury City Limits

Do you have property in the Kingsbury area but not in the official Kingsbury city limits? Would you like it to be a part of the new city of Kingsbury? Let Kingsbury know! It's a simple "Voluntary Annexation" petition form to fill out and you can be on the list to be part of out Kingsbury.

Check out the "Kingsbury City Limits" page on the Kingsbury website to see the current map, get a petition form, and find more information on voluntary annexations.

Also, check out the Kingsbury "Blog" to see pictures of the first voluntary annexations! Need more information? Just fill out the "Contact" page on the Kingsbury website and a city official will get it to you. It's so easy!

Battle Of Coleto Creek

This week in Texas history, the Battle of Coleto Creek, also known as the Battle of the Prairie, was fought on March 19 and 20, 1836, during the Goliad campaign of the Texas Revolution.

In February, General José de Urrea led a branch of the Mexican army up the Gulf Coast of Mexican Texas toward Goliad, where a large contingent of soldiers from the Texian Army were garrisoned under Colonel James W. Fannin. Simultaneously, Mexican president Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna led a larger force into the Texian interior, where on March 6 his troops won the Battle of the Alamo. After learning of the Alamo's defeat, Texian general Sam Houston ordered Fannin to retreat from Goliad and join the rest of the army in Victoria.

On March 19, Fannin led his men on a leisurely retreat from Goliad. Mexican troops surrounded the Texians on the open prairie later in the day, before Fannin could reach the shelter of a grove of timber at Coleto Creek, some 400 yards away. Texians formed a square in the middle of the prairie and attempted to defend their position. Although Mexican troops launched three separate attacks against the square, they could not penetrate the Texian position. However, the Mexicans received overwhelming reinforcements and heavy artillery. As night fell, Mexican sharpshooters were able to wound and kill more Texians. In this critical predicament, with little water to give to the wounded or to cool their artillery, Fannin and the majority of the men voted to surrender the Texian forces on March 20. Led to believe that they would be released into the United States, they were returned to the fort at Goliad, now their prison.

Also happening around Goliad, Albert Clinton Horton and his company had been acting as the advance and rear guards for Fannin's company. Surprised by the overwhelming Mexican force, they were chased off and escaped, however 18 of the group were captured and marched back to Goliad.

The 75 soldiers of William Parsons Miller and the Nashville Battalion were captured on March 20 and marched in on March 23. They were kept separate from the other prisoners, as they had been unarmed and surrendered without a fight.

On March 22, William Ward and the Georgia Battalion (80 men plus Ward) surrendered after escaping from the Battle of Refugio. About 26 men were retained at Victoria as laborers, but 55 of the prisoners were marched into Goliad, on March 25.

The stage is now set as the last of the prisoners arrives at La Bahia in Goliad. Urrea attempts to secure honorable terms for his Texian prisoners. However, Santa Anna had received authorization from the Mexican Congress to treat all captured Texian troops as pirates rather than prisoners-of-war.

The Mexican sentence for piracy is death . . .

Kingsbury News Past

All the news that's fit to print about what was happening in Kingsbury . . .

The Thursday Morning, August 10, 1876 edition of the San Antonio Express had a little blurb about Kingsbury and water. It seems we lack water and have to import it but we have whiskey and beer "in any desired quantities"! That's a wild west town for sure!

The main lack of the Kingsbury people is water. They have to import the fluid from some distance. Whiskey and beer, however, can be procured in any desired quantities.

In other 1876 news, the "exercises" of Mrs. L. N. Edmonds' School For Young Ladies and Misses will resume in September and "board can be had" for $20 per month, "Agents" (aka Salesmen) are wanted to sell the "Western Border" book which as "not a dull page", and the City and Country Dots section includes a note that an "immense pile" of freight is sitting in Kingsbury.

Elsewhere, J. Sheern, Undertaker, does "every department of the Undertaking Business" and is located "Second door west of Engine House" (this was still the day before street addresses), scouts are "still hotly in pursuit of the Indians", for "50 cents" you can get your 400-page book on Mind Reading, Soul Charming, and how to "gain the love and affection of any person they choose" (what a deal?!), "dead animals" are being carted to the suburbs "to decay and poison the air" (eww), and give Sheridan's Cavalry Powders to your horses.

Also in 1876, Jessy Pomeroy "drags on a miserable existence in jail" (Pomeroy kidnapped, tortured, and killed children as a teenager and was sentenced to spend the rest of his life in solitary confinement at age 16), Wagner & Rummel are the "Western Tex." agents for E. Anheuser & Co. "BEER BEER BEER" (I wonder what Mr. Busch was at the time?), a poor "German wagoner from Fredericksburg" "wept and sobbed" (and is apparently still weeping!) after his thirsty oxen ran into the water ditch "spilt some of the goods into the water", and more hides are coming in than usual with a lot coming from Ft. McKavett (now a ghost town up near Menard).

MRS. L. N. EDMONDS' SCHOOL

Young Ladies and Misses.

The exercises of this school will be resumed on the first Monday in September next. Only a limited and select number of pupils will be admired, and those not known must give satisfactory references. Board can be had in the family at $20 per month, payable invariably in advance, one half upon entrance, and balance at expiration of first half of session. No deduction will be made for boarders leaving before the end of the session.

For further particulars apply to

FROM THE WEST.

Special to the EXPRESS.]

UVALDE, Aug 9th, 1876.

The scouts sent after the Indians were seen in the Nueces Canon this morning at daylight, still hotly in pursuit of the Indians, following up their trail. Nothing further.

MIND Reading, Beychearacity, Fascination, Soul Charming, Mesmerism, and Marriage Guide, showing how either sex may fascinate, and gain, the love and affection of any purson they choose instantly, 400 pages, by mail 50 cents. Hunt & Co., 139 S. 7th St. Phil. Pa.

Persons living about the suburbs complain that dead animals are carted to the vicinities of their homes, from the city, and left to decay and poison the air. Let the guilty punished.

All the year round, Sheridan's Cavalky Powders should be given to horses that are "kept up." To horses and cattle that graze in summer they should only be given in winter and spring. JESSY POMEROY, the boy fiend of Boston, still drags on a miserable existence in jail, although he has been sentenced to death for his many horrible erimes. It would be a mercy to the murderer and in the interests of justice if the sentence werecarried out without further delay.

FOR SALE BY

WAGNER & RUMMEL,

SOLE AGENTS WESTERN TEX.

-A young German wagoner from Fredericksburg, engaged to haul for the Post-trader at Fort McKavitt, started out with his load evening before last up Flores street. His oxen, having stood in the sun all day, and being famished for water, ran into the ditch in front of Mrs. Harris' residence, overturned the wagon, and split some of the goods into the water. The poor fellow, thinking he was ruined, wept and sobbed like a child, and was found again weeping yesterday morning. It was not his fault, and we hope the damage will not be charged to in.

—Hides have been arriving in larger quantities the past few days than for some weeks past. A lot came in from Ft. McKavetton Tuesday and more from oth or points are on the road to the city.

Kingsbury Group

A wonderful picture of some kids just hangin' out in Kingsbury some time in the 1940s.

There are no names attached to the picture but it looks like a great group of friends that got together for a picture on a nice summer day. I love the way the young men have their hats at a jaunty tilt!

Send them this email! All they need to do is go to the Kingsbury website, click on the weird little dog at the bottom of any page, and fill out their name and email address. It's so easy! Let's get everybody to be "in the know" about what's going on in their community.
